

ANTI-RACISM

WHAT YOU CAN DO TODAY

LISTEN

Tune into black activists, journalist, & friends. They bear the burden of 400 years of violence, denial of rights, and dehumanization.

EDUCATE

Read up on the subject of systemic racism and efforts to end it.

AMPLIFY

If you feel the need to post on social media, repost black voices.

DONATE

Put your money where your heart is by donating to organizations and movements on the ground or anti-racist candidates running for office.

SPEAK

When you hear friends, co-workers, or public figures make racist remarks, use your voice and your privilege to speak up.

PRESSURE

Pay attention to local, state, and federal elections; keep up with ballot initiatives and budget votes so that racist policies and politicians are not excused or empowered.

VOTE

Vote for people who have made an anti-racism commitment, including sheriffs, judges, and district attorneys.

RESOURCES

This list is by no means complete. Do your own research and ask people in the know.

Black people are most likely to be killed by police

"In a racist society it is not enough to be non-racist, we must be anti-racist."
